4. What is the difference between a certificate and a certification?

Certificate programs provide training and course work in a specific subject and then assess knowledge attained during the course. At the CrossFit Level 1 and Level 2 Certificate Courses, over the course of two days, CrossFit staff review the conceptual framework of CrossFit methodology and movements specific to each level, and participants are then tested on this material. Passing the test demonstrates that the individual learned the material taught in the course. Only material presented in the course and supporting course materials is tested.

A certification is an assessment only (e.g., an exam). A certification exam tests an individual’s current skills and expertise gained from an entire body of knowledge across a given profession. This is the proper designation for the CCFT and CCFC. Individuals are tested on their capabilities across the profession of CrossFit training. Although a certification has eligibility requirements, a scope and defined parameters, no single course prepares participants for the exam. Instead, passing the exam demonstrates knowledge and competency across a profession. Anything that is within the stated scope of the certification may be tested.

5. What if I hold a Level 1, 2, 3, or “Coach” credential from a course I attended prior to 2008?

These credentials are no longer valid and must be updated by taking the current associated courses and tests.

6. Is there a way to verify my own or someone else’s trainer status?

Yes. All current CrossFit trainers are listed in the public Trainer Directory. If you are unable to locate your listing and hold a current CrossFit Level 1, 2, 3, or 4 trainer credential, or if you would like to update your listing, please submit the Trainer Directory request form.

7. Which credential is required to apply to become a CrossFit affiliate?

The minimum required credential to apply for affiliation is the CF-L1. Since 2002, the Level 1 has served as the first step for a CrossFit trainer: an introductory course that provides a comprehensive review of the core concepts and methodology of CrossFit along with an introduction to CrossFit culture and community. It is an important experience for anyone seeking affiliation with CrossFit.

8. Which credentials are accredited?

The CrossFit Level 1 is an ANSI-accredited Certificate and the CCFT is an ANSI-accredited Certification.

11. Does the Level 1 Certificate expire?
Yes. Your Level 1 Certificate is valid for five years from the date of issue, which is the date you pass the test and complete all certificate requisites. Prior to expiration, you must either revalidate your CF-L1 or earn the CF-L2 to keep your CrossFit trainer status current.

You may list your designation in an email signature, resume, or bio on a website as:

   As a CF-L1, you have the following options:

   • Option 2—Earn the CrossFit Level 2 Trainer (CF-L2) credential

II. THE CROSSFIT LEVEL 2 CERTIFICATE COURSE, CONTINUED

7. Does the Level 2 Certificate expire?
   Yes. Your Level 2 Certificate is valid for five years from the date of issue, which is the date you complete all certificate requisites. Prior to expiration, you must either revalidate your CF-L2 or earn the CF-L3 to keep your CrossFit trainer status current.

8. How do I keep my trainer status current?
   As a CF-L2, you have the following options:
   - Option 1—CF-L2 revalidation
     - Reattend the full two-day course and meet current eligibility and certificate requirements, outlined in section 2 of the Level 2 Participant Handbook.
   - Option 2—Earn the CrossFit Level 3 (CF-L3) credential
     - Current CF-L2 required
     - Current CPR/AED training required
     - 750 hours of CrossFit coaching within the last five years as a CF-L1 or CF-L2 required
     - Pass the CCFT exam

9. What credential do I hold if I passed the former Level 2 performance evaluation offered from January 2008 to January 2010?
   Individuals who passed the former Level 2 performance evaluation have been granted the CF-L2 credential. To maintain CF-L2 status, they must repeat the course every five years. To obtain higher-level credentials, these individuals may apply to take the Certified CrossFit Trainer (CCFT) exam.

   Passing the CCFT exam automatically grants those with the former Level 2 performance evaluation the CF-L4 credential. To maintain the CF-L4 status, they must meet the same recertification requirements as the CF-L3. The CF-L4 designation earned via the old L2 performance evaluation does not grant the CCFC credential.
III. THE CROSSFIT LEVEL 3 CERTIFICATION AND CERTIFIED CROSSFIT TRAINER (CCFT) EXAMINATION

1. Is there a course for the CrossFit Level 3 Certification?
   No. The CrossFit Level 3 Trainer (CF-L3) credential is earned by taking and passing the Certified CrossFit Trainer (CCFT) exam.

2. Do I have to take the exam at a CrossFit affiliate?
   No. The CCFT is a computer-based exam administered worldwide at Pearson VUE testing centers. For a current list of testing center locations, visit the CrossFit examination section of the Pearson VUE website.

3. What are the fees for the CCFT?
   All associated CCFT fees can be found on the CrossFit Certifications page.

4. What is the application process?
   You must meet all eligibility requirements (see above) and initiate the application process on the CrossFit Certifications page.

   If your application is approved, you will receive an email notification to pay the examination fee. Once paid, you will be directed to the Pearson VUE website to schedule your exam. You have one year from the date of your accepted application to schedule, take, and pass your exam. During this time, your eligibility requirements must remain current.

5. Is the CCFT exam available in languages other than English?
   No, not at this time.

6. How can I study for the CCFT exam?
   Study guidance is available on the CrossFit Certifications page.

7. What if I fail the CCFT exam?
   If you do not pass, a waiting period of 90 days is required between all retest attempts. If your application is still valid, you will receive a notification email with instructions on registering for a retest at that time. If you do not pass within one year from your application date (i.e., application is expired), you will need to reapply.

9. Does the CCFT expire?
   Yes. The CCFT is valid for three years from the date of issue.

A list of CrossFit Approved Providers can be found on the CrossFit Certifications Continuing Education page. Additionally, all CrossFit Preferred Courses are pre-approved for CEUs toward maintaining your certification.

12. What happens if I do not complete the recertification process prior to my expiration date?
Late recertifications are considered on a case-by-case basis. The details of the late recertification process, including applicable late fees, are outlined in the CCFT Candidate Handbook.

Those who hold expired credentials and do not complete the late recertification process will forfeit the CCFT credential and can no longer train others using the CrossFit methodology unless they hold a lower-level CrossFit credential that is still valid.

13. What is the difference between the CCFT and the CF-L3?
All individuals who pass the CCFT exam have the CCFT credential and may train others using the CrossFit methodology.

The CF-L3 is a CrossFit-specific designation granted only to individuals who have achieved certification utilizing CrossFit training. Individuals with the CF-L3 have previously attended the CF-L1 and CF-L2 courses and have prior experience coaching others using the CrossFit methodology. A CF-L3 credential holder may apply for CrossFit affiliation, and/or maintain his or her status as the licensee of record.

The CCFT alone cannot be used to apply for affiliation, nor does it allow for the use of the CrossFit name for business or promotional purposes. Individuals who have only the CCFT credential may not use the CF-L3 designation, nor can they attain the CF-L4.
IV. THE CROSSFIT LEVEL 4 CERTIFICATION AND CERTIFIED CROSSFIT COACH (CCFC) EVALUATION

5. Is the CCFC evaluation available in languages other than English?
   No, not at this time.

6. How can I study for the CCFC evaluation?
   Study guidance is available on the CrossFit Certifications page. However, the CCFC evaluation is intended for the accomplished coach, and years of experience coaching others is recommended as the best preparation for this evaluation.

7. What if I fail the CCFC evaluation?
   If you do not pass, you may retake the evaluation. No specific waiting period is required between attempts. However, all prerequisites must be current at the time of the scheduled reevaluation. Subsequent attempts require a new registration and will be offered at the price indicated on the CrossFit Certifications page.

8. What if my CrossFit Level 3 Certification expires before I am able to pass the CCFC evaluation?
   You will be required to retake the CCFT exam to be eligible for the CCFC evaluation. You must meet all current eligibility requirements for the CCFT to do so.

9. Does the CCFC expire?
   Yes. The CCFC is valid for three years from the date of issue.

10. How do I maintain my CCFC credential?
    The CCFC credential is maintained through recertification. All recertification requirements must be completed prior to your certification's expiration date. Current recertification requirements can be found in the CCFC Candidate Handbook.

Late recertifications are considered on a case-by-case basis. The details of the late recertification process, including applicable late fees, are outlined in the CCFC Candidate Handbook.

Those who hold expired credentials and do not complete the late recertification process will forfeit the CCFC credential and can no longer train others using the CrossFit methodology unless they hold a lower-level CrossFit credential that is still valid.

13. What is the difference between the CCFC and the CF-L4?
All individuals who pass the CCFC evaluation will have the CCFC credential and may train others using the CrossFit methodology.

The CF-L4 is a CrossFit-specific designation granted only to individuals who have achieved certification utilizing CrossFit training. Individuals with the CF-L4 have previously attended the CF-L1 and CF-L2 courses, and have earned the CF-L3 certification. These individuals have prior experience coaching others using the CrossFit methodology. A CF-L4 credential holder may apply for CrossFit affiliation and/or maintain his or her status as the licensee of record.

The CCFC alone cannot be used to apply for affiliation, nor does it allow for the use of the CrossFit name for business or promotional purposes. Individuals who have only the CCFC credential may not use the CF-L4 designation.
